Testimonials

"The WELA experience was phenomenal. Every bit of information added great value, whether it was provided formally or during informal chats. After Prof. Mathew Tsamenyi's Accounting module, I decided to have a forensic auditor check one of my accounts – and the bank refunded me 3,800,000 NGN (10,550.00 USD)! This was money that was previously totally lost to me, now regained. All that I learned from all the modules has contributed greatly to my business and our factory project management. In light of the forex issues in Nigeria, this new knowledge could not have come at a better time. Today I have been made a brand ambassador for Stanbic IBTC Bank in Nigeria."

"The uniqueness of the WELA programme is its strategy of using each participant's business as a case study, whereby we all had a part in identifying issues and making recommendations to assist each other. As a retired banker, I found WELA particularly informative and useful because it has taught me a lot about the fast mode in which digital banking has taken over most traditional banking services. The ecommerce sessions at the Alibaba Digital Museum have also given me deep insights into how artificial intelligence is transforming the world. The lessons taken from the WELA programme are helping me pitch my plans more professionally to access finance from investors."
